

Motivation and Job Satisfaction: A Workshop

This presentation looks at motivational theories and how they apply to work.

Why is it that we feel so motivated in some jobs, and de-motivated in others?

We will identify three critical psychological states - easily recognized - that give us personal satisfaction at work. What can we learn from these instances? How do we apply them to:

- our jobs/careers?
- the staff/volunteers that we work with?

Facilitator: Doug Robertson

Doug has a Masters' Degree in Business Administration specializing in employee motivation and organizational structures. He has worked as a Human Resources professional since 1984, working in the areas of Compensation, Labour Relations, Training, and Organization Development. He has taught at universities since 1994, in the areas of Leadership, Human Resources and Organizational Behaviour. Doug's career mission is "to help people and organizations fulfil their purposes and aspirations."

Date: Wednesday, November 9th, 2005

Time: 1:00pm - 4:30pm

Cost: $50.00 for VS & VMG Members
$65.00 for non-members

Location: Room 1911

Saskatoon City Hospital
701 Queen Street (Parking provided)

Brought to you by:

Registration deadline is Wednesday, November 2nd, 2005

Please complete the registration form and return it with payment to:

Volunteer Saskatoon
100-506 25th Street East
Saskatoon, SK S7K 4A7
Phone: 955-1748 Fax: 975-2027
Email: volunteer@saskatoon.unitedway.ca